Outcome Description

UN Women’s contributions to achieve Outcome are designed around three intermediate outputs: Output 2.1. Women and girls, including the most vulnerable, are more informed of their rights and availability of social services; and have access to survivor-centred, inclusive and integrated EVAWG/GBV services, gender-responsive social protection measures and mechanisms to keep institutions accountable for service delivery, across the HDP nexus. Output 2.2. Young men and boys, women and girls have greater awareness of the harmful practices and sexist social norms that perpetuate the incidence of VAW. Output 2.3. National authorities have greater capacity to produce and analyse quality disaggregated data to inform legislative, policy and institutional measures to address gaps in Agenda 2030 and BPfA implementation.
