Peace talks, recovery, conflict resolution and peace building planning processes include women's participation and promote and protect women's human rights.

UN Women's Programme on Women, Peace and Security (WPS) directly contributes to SDG (16) : Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels. In 2022, the programme has mainly contributed to the outcome of promoting the empowerment of women through interventions that support the peace, security and resilience in the communities as well as the meaningful participation of women in peacebuilding. UN Women raised the WPS Agenda in BARMM by ensuring that needs of women and girls in conflict-impacted areas are reflected in local Gender and Development plans in over 17 local government units, ensuring that programs and services reach the most vulnerable women and girls in the Bangsamoro region.

Effective UN system coordination to promote accountability to deliver on gender equality and women's empowerment

Philippines Programmes Office has supported and played a key role in the very first UNCT Gender SWAP Scorecard Assessment which surfaced several elements that requires streamlined action from the UNCT level to articulate and translate its commitment to actions in promoting gender equality and women's empowerment. UN Women team also took part and contributed to the drafting of the new common country analysis looking at how gender dimensions should be reflected in the various critical areas identified. We also submitted an analytical piece on gender which will form part of the CCA, contents of which were result of various consultations and conversations with stakeholders. Leveraging on UN Women's coordination function, we have seen results in the following areas: UNCT Level Forwarded concrete recommendations as part of the Action Plans linked to the Gender SWAP Scorecard assessment; Led the drafting and submission of observations to the CEDAW Committee and UPR. Began coordinating key actions and work for GiHA

Strategic partnership and alliance building

UN Women in the Philippines through projects implemented across key thematic areas and intervention continued to broaden its work to help build and contribute to an enabling environment that promotes equal, peaceful, resilient communities and societies where women can live and lead peaceful lives free from violence and discrimination. This was done through meaningful and strategic partnerships forged with civil society organizations, key government agencies, academic institutions, and private sector which is the biggest number we have seen by far. Through engaging at least eight (8) government agencies, thirty-three (33) civil society organizations, four (4) academic institutions and four (4) private sector /industry associations/cooperatives - UN Women widely promoted and advocated for national to local level policies/laws that paves the way for women to access and be part of institutions that supports and promotes women's empowerment and gender equality. Conduct of wide public awareness and campaigns utilizing various platforms online and offline, hosting and coordinating multi-stakeholder consultations and policy dialogues, building economic resilience and sustainable livelihoods, enhancing confidence to communicate and tell their own narratives, supporting and ensuring self-care and well-being is at the core of what women as well as service providers will do - brought lessons and information that allows all partners and stakeholders, including UN Women to reflect on what works and establish clear grounding on how we can best demonstrate UN Women's mandates.
