Rural women and youths have increased access to secure and productive resources, practices and technologies to engage in Climate Smart Agriculture

Increases women's access to markets and finance. A total of 4,975 women farmers had access to and control over productive resources including markets. UN Women supported this by enhancing knowledge of women through market surveys. Following this UN Women linked women producer groups to markets for them to sell their produce. Enhanced knowledge and skills for government staff including frontline extension officers in gender, budgeting, CSA information, practices and technologies. During quarter, a total of 194 staff and extension workers were trained on gender, budgeting, CSA information, practices and technologies. Out of this, 110 were males, 84 were females. During the training, a rapid Gender analysis in form of group discussions, was carried out during the training sessions. It was noted that, most of the gender issues as stipulated in the bullet points below are preventing women from progressing in their communities and if not dealt with, could have significant consequences. Further to that, the aspect of limited control and access to assets and benefits were discussed particularly in crop production. It was noted that female headed households have smaller land holding sizes than male headed households, consequently, this leads to low farm productivity among the female headed household farmers.

During the quarter, two separate sessions were organized for the ASWAP Project and the partners implementing SI Projects. The ASWAP II project and SI Projects enhanced capacities of 50 (37Male,23Female) district agriculture staff and 55 CSO implementing Partners in Result Management focusing on reporting. The training targeted District Agriculture Development Officers, District Extension officers, District Nutrition Officers and others who generate reports at district level. The second The session was for 1.5 days and was facilitated by the UN Women Monitoring Evaluation and Reporting Specialist. In responding to the gaps identified through the review of results and from consultations held with DAES, the training equipped participants (i) with knowledge about Results, result hierarchy and RBM concepts (basics of RBM), (ii) theory and practical session on definition of expected results from an intervention, (iii) defined gender specific results expected from the ASWAP SP II &ndash; mapped a results chain from the UNW supported interventions (iv) reporting and showcasing of results Representative from WPHF Secretariat visited the country projects from 22nd August to 29th August 2022. The main objective of the mission was to Monitor WPHF-Spotlight Projects. As such the mission focused on interacting with beneficiaries and stakeholders to appreciate progress, assess the successes and sustainability strategies. Also, focus was on appreciating the challenges and how these can be addressed as for some partners, project implementation is still going on. Overall, the implementation of projects in Malawi showed clear results and improvements for women and girls. Community conflicts in relation to SGBV and Harmful Practices are still very prevalent, and the community groups and networks continue to mediate, monitor and refer these conflicts. The TA&rsquo;s in all sites visited are supporting the work of the WPHF partner organizations, which is crucial for the project&rsquo;s success. These traditional leaders are working hand in hand with the various youth and women groups, including district officials. Structures put in place by the project go beyond project period, ensuring sustainability of the measures. UN Women has continued to be instrumental in providing technical support to the partners to ensure implementation is focused and result based. The final report on the Country Portfolio Evaluation was submitted in December 2022.
